SHAVINGS FROM THE BOARD

The Trustees are getting bids to replace our heating and air conditioning systems. They will get three bids within the next week, evaluate all bids, and determine which is best. (During a later special congregational meeting, it was approved to have McCarthy Heating replace with new furnaces and add-on heat pumps.)

They are evaluating replacement of the sanctuary doors with solid-core doors. This would be financed from memorial funds.

There was additional discussion of the upgrade of our kitchen. No action taken.

RUSS' RAMBLINGS – Who Do I Trust?

As many of you are probably aware, Dot and I have wanted to sell our home for the past two years. I know that God will take care of everything in His good time, but I am impatient for that to occur. I also am concerned that I do my part get the house sold. We recently had a professional “stager” come through and offer suggestions. We have made some additional upgrades and they added some decorating items. Then there was a news segment that included our home and one other. If you are interested, you should be able to still see the news segment at the following link: <http://www.wowt.com/home/headlines/18471569.html> .There is text of the news segment as well as viewer comments at the end. If you want to see the actual news segment or the extended net version, you can click on “Sell This Home” or Sell This Home – Web Extra” at the top of the article. If you are curious about the actual MLS listing, you can view that at the following link: 12417 Evans Street.

I continue to improve my reliance on God to provide for my needs. However, I am like that person who puts God in charge of driving but occasionally reaches over and tries to take control of the steering wheel myself.
